Death of Henry Rasel.
In the death of Mr. Henry Rasel the South Side has lost one of its oldest and best citizens, one who had lived in the city nearly forty years. Mr. Rasel was the father of three children, one of whom, Mrs. Edward Hofreuter, still survives him.

A Surprise Party.
Miss Lena Schell, of South Jacob street, was tendered a surprise at her home last night. Miss Schell has lots of friends, and they fairly over-flowed the house. Nounhardt's orchestra was there and played for the dance, which soon commenced. Refreshments were served and the evening was spent in the pleasantest manner possible.

Rev. Dr. Hite in the City.
Rev. Dr. Geo. E. Hite, now pastor of an influential church in Albany, is in the city on his way to assist in dedicating a colored Methodist church in Parkersburg next Sunday. Dr. Hite is well pleased with his new home, his church and his work. He says he could not have been better received and he has every evidence of the appreciation of his efforts. "I wish it understood, though," he added, "that West Virginia has a warm place in my heart and ever will have. I read my INTELLIGENCER regularly to see what is going on in the state, and I am glad to see that it is progressing."

The Whitehead Benefit.
There have been enough tickets sold to the concert to be given at the Opera House this evening for the benefit of Mr. Ralph Whitehead to fill the house several times, and all the seats were marked off early after the sale began. It was the greatest rush ever seen in Wheeling. Mr. Whitehead is expected home to-day. His eyes have not so far as can be told been benefited by the operation on them. The programme of the concert this evening is a very interesting and attractive one. It is as follows:
Overture-Vaudeville.....Koppitz

ELSIE GRAY SENT UP.
Under the Bad Fame Act-Other Matters Before Squire Arkle.
The hearing of Elsie Gray, under the charge of being a person of bad fame, came up before Squire Arkle yesterday. In default of $200 bond the young man was sent to jail for thirty days.
Mrs. Manley and Ridgway were charged with trespass, in having set out the store and household goods of John Gartner on the pavement, exposing them to the inclemency of the weather. Their case was continued to this evening.
Tom Smith, Bill Green, Bill Fordyce, Jim Scott and Ed Black were charged with having stolen a half box of soap from the Elm Grove depot.
"If those boys stole the soap," said one of the spectators of the hearing, "it couldn't have gone around. Look at their faces."
Tom Smith was discharged, James Scott got twenty days in jail and the three other boys were recognized for their appearance next Friday at 6:30 p. m.
Isaac Braverman was there in war paint, and repeated his testimony implicating "Fudge" O'Neal and Jack Forsythe in the robbery of his ten dollar bill. The hearing was continued until Saturday.

The Ladies.
The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California Liquid laxative Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

UNWHOLESOME ORANGES

Now Being Sold Cheap-what They Look Like.
"Florida oranges," said a fruit dealer to an INTELLIGENCER reporter yesterday, "are being sold cheaper now than they have been for some years. The crop was unusually good the past season, and the sour Messinas are not in it with the domestic fruit. Some are selling at $2 per box wholesale, and may go even lower. Try one and taste for yourself how good they are."
The reporter took an orange and ate it while walking up street, regardless of polite society's inhibition of eating in public.
"You seem to be enjoying that orange," said a friend, who came up at that moment, "and I've seen lots of other people eating them. When I was in Florida, we wouldn't think of eating an orange of that sort."
"What's the matter with it?" he was asked, as the last morsel was being swallowed. "The orange tastes all right."
"I'll show you what's the matter," was the reply, as he stepped up to a fruit stand and bought a nickel's worth of the fruit; "just watch me open one. Do you notice anything peculiar about the skin that divides the segment of this orange?"
"Yes, it seems to have an occasional little bit of a white speck, and, though this piece seems to be juicy, yet it has a queer sort of pulpy feel."
"That infinitesimal white speck is nothing but mould, the beginning of decay, the first sign of rottenness. That orange has been frozen. In 1886 there were thousands and thousands of oranges rotting on the ground in Florida, right where they fell from the tree. The state had been visited by a freeze, severe for that latitude, as the thermometer went down below 20° above zero, and staid down for three days. The oranges became so many lumps of ice, and began in a week or so, when warmer weather set in, to drop off the trees. In eating an orange a day or two after they had been picked, nothing particularly peculiar could be detected in their taste, but soon the mould began to show on opening the fruit, and an orange placed on a shelf, away from all possible contamination, would absolutely rot, though the skin remained intact. I have known people to get deathly sick from eating oranges, such as are sold here in Wheeling to-day. You can't taste the decay, when it is slight."
"People may tell you that there was no freeze in Florida this year. Perhaps not, but oranges get frozen in another way. Many car loads are frozen in transit, and are hurriedly dumped on the market, as soon as they arrive. That is one reason why so many sour Florida oranges are shipped. The grower fears to run the risk of seeing his fruit freeze on the trees, or to hear of its having been frozen on its way to the North, and so he ships them before they are ripe. Besides freezing on the tree and on its Northern trip, the fruit is frequently frozen while exposed for sale, and when the weather changes it begins to mould. You may eat a few with impunity, but when they get very cheap, parents will be apt to let their children eat too many, and though the consequences may not be serious, they will probably be disagreeable. Not all oranges sold in the North have been frozen, but it is well to examine all of them before eating, to see that the white decay has not advanced too far."

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

An Order in the Frat. Fl. Cop. Case. Other Business.
In the Circuit Court yesterday the following order was issued in the chancery cause of Daniel W. Harrison vs. the Fraternity of Financial Co-operation: "This day the defendant, appearing by its attorney for no other purpose, invoked the court to set aside and annul the orders made in this cause on the tenth day of October, 1892, giving leave to the plaintiff to file his bill in court and directing an order of publication to be entered, and the consideration of the motion is postponed to a future day."
In the case of Minnie W. Picket vs. W. Clint Picket, for divorce, an order for temporary alimony was entered.
In the case of George E. Boyd vs. Adam Ackerman, an order of sale was entered, the proceeds to be distributed among the creditors.
The case of the Sawyer-Man Electric Company vs. the Wheeling Electric Company was dismissed.
The case of W. S. Goshorn vs. M. A. Martin was revived in the name of the executor.

Fall to Do Our Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbecht, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from Nervous Prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine caused sound sleep every night, and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three weeks' use of the Nervine for Headache, Nervous Prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Sold by The Logan Drug Co. Trial bottle free.
